Crowded buses draw complaints

Superintendent Geraldine O'Donnell informed the school committee of another problem that the overcrowding in the school is causing. The effects of the overcrowding is now being felt in the transportation as well as the classroom. O'Donnell said there have been complaints "in regard to the pickup and dropoff times of North Intermediate School students."

The primary concern is that students picked up by the minivan are arriving at the school prior to faculty and staff. In order for the minivan to be available to pick up students for the Woburn Street School on time North Intermediate students are dropped off at approximately 7:15 a.m.

O'Donnell said the safety committee observed the entire route and felt that there is no way to alter it or speed it up without sacrificing safety.

One solution that is being considered is the possibility of a before school program "that would benefit students and give them supervision," O'Donnell said. Additional funds would be needed so that an instructional aide could be given additional hours. It's possible that this money could come from the Marshall's grant awarded to the school system, if not however, "it would necessitate a line item" in the budget to cover the overtime she explained.

O'Donnell said she wanted to make the school committee aware of the situation and of the possible impact on the budget.

An issue that was resolved at the meeting was the 1995-96 school calendar. There had been much debate leading up to the decision that took only one vote at last week's meeting.

There had been four proposed calendars which varied in stating the vacation dates. There had been a survey distributed to parents and staff in an attempt to supply the committee with a feel for which option the majority was the most comfortable with. Chairman Paul Palizzolo said that the results of the survey showed that "whichever option was chosen about 70 percent of the respondents weren't in favor of it. He said, "we've got to decide what's best for the school" and will provide the best educational opportunity.

In the end the calendar chosen consisted of an August 28 starting day for teachers, August 29 for students, no school on Friday, September 1, February and April vacations will be scheduled as they always have been, and the last day will be June 18 (with five snow days included).

Citizens Police Academy set

by Jeff Nazzaro

The Wilmington Police Department is set to take its Community Policing Program one step further - by allowing citizens to get involved even more than they already are.

Community policing already involves, well, the entire community, but now the police department will be conducting a Citizens Police Academy to heighten awareness of the role of police and residents within the town.

Beginning with the last week of March, the department will host eight weekly seminars featuring various aspects of policing. Program instruction will include:

- The latest law enforcement techniques.
- Explanations of the latest drunk driving regulations, including: how and when a driver's license is destroyed because of drunk driving; what a drunk driving arrest will cost a defendant; and a complete demonstration of a breathalyzer machine.
- Domestic abuse. What constitutes domestic abuse and what the various forms are, including elder, child and spousal abuse.
- Police patrol procedure, including the rights of police officers on patrol and the rights of citizens.
- Drugs. What threats exist in the community and what is being done about it. What schoolchildren are being taught in the DARE Program. And this is just a sampling. Much more will be taught, and those attending at least six of the eight classes offered will be given the opportunity of riding along during an actual police shift.

The academy will be held at the Swain School, days, nights or both and probably on Tuesdays, Wednesdays or Thursdays, depending upon the preference of applicants.

The application itself is short (name, address, date of birth, social security number, phone number and signature) and is due by March 15.

Seating is limited to 20 students per session, and while just one session is planned, another will likely be added if the response is high. The Wilmington Police Department retains the right to select persons allowed to attend the academy.

Applications can be picked-up at the station and completed forms dropped off there in person or mailed to Officer Joseph Harris, Community Police Coordinator, 1 Adelaide St., Wilmington, MA 01887.

Cash found

The Wilmington Police have reported that a large amount of cash was turned in to them after a lady lost it in a store in Wilmington Plaza on Tuesday evening, February 28. The lady who lost the money can recover same by appearing at the Wilmington Police Dept. and identifying it. Further information is available by calling their non-emergency number: 658-5071.

Boutwell to be all Kindergarten

by Jeff Nazzaro

With roughly $200,000 to spend, indications are that the Wilmington School Committee will vote to reopen the Boutwell School as an all-kindergarten center for the town.

Superintendent of Schools Dr. Geraldine O'Donnell addressed the school building subcommittee Tuesday with a preview of the preliminary budget she will present to the school committee for approval Wednesday. That budget allocates $11.5 million for salaries, $2.6 million for non-salary expenditures and $201,564 for the Boutwell for a total of $14.45 million, the amount allocated to Wilmington Schools by Town Manager Michael Caira in his preliminary town budget.

"That ($201,564) is not a lot of money for an elementary school," O'Donnell said.

When O'Donnell makes her budget presentation she said, she will recommend that the committee vote to reopen the Boutwell as a six-teacher, 12-session kindergarten. The other option for the committee is to open the Boutwell as a 12-classroom, K-5 elementary school.

Using what she termed "very conservative estimates," O'Donnell said the kindergarten center could be opened for the 1995-96 school year for just over $200,000, while the price tag for an elementary setup would likely top $280,000.

According to O'Donnell, the advantages to creating a kindergarten center at the Boutwell would include:

- No planning time necessary for teachers. Elementary school teachers would require 45 minutes of planning time per day.
- Share-a-nurse. An all-kindergarten facility would make use of the nurse currently assigned to the nearby West Intermediate School. An elementary school would require a full-time nurse.
- Savings on text books and other materials. In addition to the lower costs of materials for kindergarten students, teachers at the Boutwell could share materials.

- No kitchen. There is a kitchen at the Boutwell, but it is in need of renovations. An elementary school would require a functioning kitchen, whereas a kindergarten would not.
- No library. There is no library at the Boutwell, a shortcoming that would cause a problem provided an elementary school were set up. Kindergartens generally do not use libraries.
- No additional staff. An elementary school would need at least kitchen staff and most likely additional support staff, including a librarian, guidance counselor and reading specialist.
- No major redistricting of students. While all kindergarten students would be moved to the Boutwell, none would be changing

Septic regulations get stricter March 31

by Jeff Nazzaro

New state regulations governing septic tank systems and cesspools will go into effect on March 31 of this year. The biggest impact of these new "Title 5" regulations will be that any house or commercial building with a septic system being sold or enlarged must have that system inspected.

Legally eligible inspectors include any registered sanitarian, certified health officer, professional engineer, or system inspector licensed by the state Department of Environmental Protection.

The Wilmington Board of Health will inspect any system for an advance fee of $200. Public Health Director Greg Erickson is a certified health officer and will conduct the inspections.

Any system found upon inspection to be failed must be upgraded before sale or expansion of the property it is on will be allowed.

Reasons for failure of a system include:

- A backup of sewage into the building served by the system or any component of the system as a result of an overloaded or clogged soil absorption system or cesspool.
- A discharge of effluent directly or indirectly to the surface of the ground.
- The septic tank or cesspool requires pumping four or more times per year.

- The septic tank is made of metal, is cracked, or is otherwise structurally unsound.
- A cesspool, privy or any portion of the soil absorption system is located within 50 feet of a surface water; 100 feet of a surface water supply or tributary to a surface water supply; within 50 feet of a bordering vegetated wetland; or within 50 feet of a private water supply well.

Any system will be considered failed and thus in need of an upgrade upon the order of the DEP or board of health, if it has been determined that a specific circumstance (not limited to those listed above) exists by which any system threatens public health, safety or the environment.

Inspections require not only an inspector, but, at the property owner's additional expense, a licensed installer, on site with a backhoe and pump truck in order to open the system or components of the system, pump the system and make minor repairs. In addition, all underground utilities must be located and marked by Dig Safe and the water service must be marked by the Wilmington Water and sewer.

Wilmington pre-school registration

Pre-school registration applications will be available in the pre-school room at Wilmington High School Friday, March 3 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m., March 10, 17, and 24 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Parents wishing to view the program are invited to Open House Tuesday, March 7 from 8 to 10:30 a.m.

Our plan is to offer two separate four day sessions (Mon-Thurs): a four day morning sessions for three year olds and a four day afternoon session for four and five year olds. Each session is two and a half hours a day. For the past two years, a space has been available to every parent who registered his/her child during the registration period. It is our intention to provide a similar program for next year; but this will depend on the age, number, and needs of next year's pre-school registrants.

Current tuition is $150 a month and next year's tuition has yet to be established. A $25 non-refundable application fee is due with the application. An original copy of the child's birth certificate must also be presented at the time of registration.

Applications will be accepted by mail with $25 fee and the child's birth certificate. Birth certificate will be promptly returned. Deadline for all applications will be March 31, 1995.

Pre-school children returning for a second year will be given preference but must register.

The Wilmington High School Pre-School Program provides a high quality pre-school experience for three, four and five year old children. An early childhood teacher, a high school child development teacher and a staff of qualified high school child development students provide an ideal child-staff ratio for a maximum of 15 per-school children in each session. Four spaces are available in each session for children with mild special needs.

This program also gives high school students considering a career working with children, a realistic hands on experience as they help plan and assist pre-school children with games, arts and crafts, songs, stories and snacks.

Parents wishing more information should call 694-6060.

AVOID THESE AUDIT RED FLAGS

No one knows exactly how the IRS chooses tax returns to audit, but there are certain errors they look for. Avoid them.

*Did you include all your 1099 income on your return? Double check. Names of payers and amounts must be identical.

*Does the mortgage interest you deduct match the figure reported by the lender? If not, attach a detailed schedule and reconciliation.

*Will charity contributions stand up? Obtain receipts for donations of $250 or more. If you attended a charity event and paid more than $75, use their written statement on the value of goods and services. Attach Form 8283 for non-cash contributions over $500.

*If you've claimed child care credit, is the caregiver's Social Security number listed?

*Reporting casualty losses? Use Form 8464. The deductible loss is your adjusted basis in the property or the difference in its fair market value before and after the loss, whichever is less, and subject to a 10 percent-of-AGI floor and a $100 deduction.

Politicians, beware!

by Stu Neilson

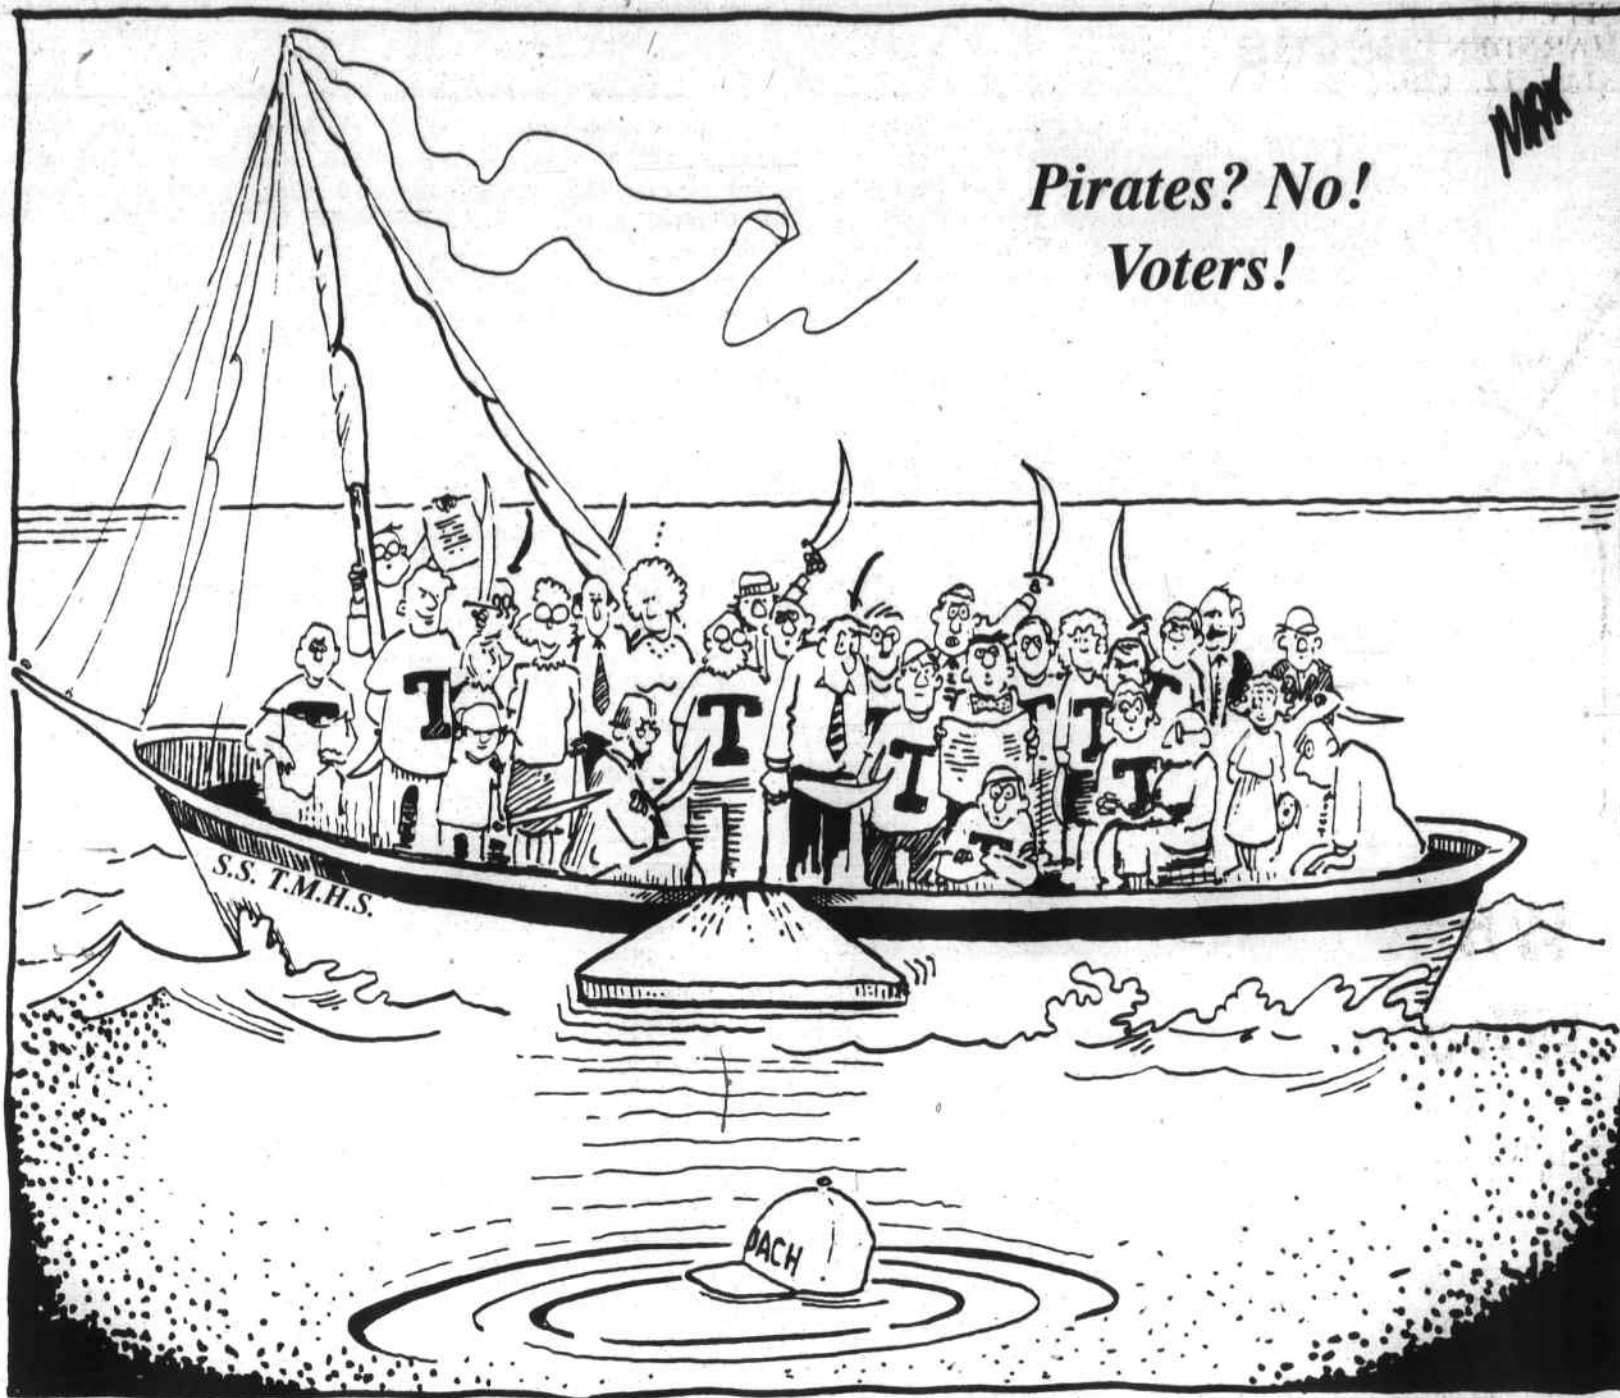

Well, it took a mob scene but they finally got rid of Coach DelGrosso. But the questions in my mind are: "Why did it take a mob scene?" and "Who's running the show?"

Something stinks in the Town of Tewksbury when it takes actions by parents to bring a problem to the light of day, and to correct the same. The parents involved in the DelGrosso incident told the press that they had been to the school committee, the supervisors, the PAC's and all the channels. Why did they have to go to the press? One parent was the spark plug that set off the explosion. Shouldn't someone in the administration have paid attention? Or is this just a vendetta?

Did Superintendent McGrath do the right thing in announcing that she would not rehire DelGrosso in the next year? It was certainly the easiest way out for her. Perhaps the only way out for her. She works for the Tewksbury School Committee. They are elected by the public.

Here at the Town Crier we received damning and praising letters regarding Coach DelGrosso. We've done our best to present both sides. Everyone has their own opinion. Maybe mine is right?

There is a lesson to be learned here. Not for DelGrosso. Not for McGrath. Not even the school committee. But for the parents. There is nothing that a single irate voter can not accomplish!

Party Time!

by Bill Conlon

What a great day for a holiday!

Which holiday? Take your pick. There are more holidays than there are days in the year. And if you can't find a holiday here, in the U.S., look at other countries to find a reason to raise a glass. Need a reason to party? Go ahead! There must be a holiday around here somewhere!

We have President's Day (although we don't pay much attention to our former Chief Executives), Labor Day (when we don't labor), Groundhog Day (in which one Pennsylvania rodent gets all the attention), and Shrove Tuesday (I like mine with butter, thanks).

Not enough? Gee, you must be a real party animal!

The Moslem world is nearing the end of its month-long fasting period, Ramadan. From March 12 to 15 Egypt will celebrate Ramadan Bairam, but they don't drink alcohol, so be cool. Catholics should book trips to Peru for June 29. Pope's Day, don't you know!

Birthdays? Every day is somebody's birthday, but some birthdays are worth more notice than others.

Try September 28 — the birthday of Confucius, as observed in Taiwan. Or May 18. Can't forget Buddha's birthday in Korea, can we? Of course, Korea celebrates Ch'usok from September 19 to 21. If you can pronounce it, have a good time. And Australia will be rocking on June 13, which is the Queen's birthday, which is curious because Thailand celebrates the Queen's Birthday on August 12. Boy, what on Earth am I going to buy the queen this year? I'll try to find something nice, but not too expensive. That battleship last year really set my credit card back!!

Mexico has two unusual observances, back to back. November 1 is the Annual Address by the President, followed immediately by November 2, the Day of Death. Guess they don't like what he has to say, do they?

But the prize for unusual observances has to go to Taiwan, on April 5. In case you hadn't circled your calendar, that's Tomb Sweeping Day on the island of Formosa. Personally, I'd be rather reluctant to remove any dust from a tomb, wouldn't you. That might be Uncle Charlie in the dustpan!

Then again, Taiwan sets aside October 25 as Retrocession Day. Makes you think everybody has to walk backwards that day, doesn't it?

Some holidays are a mystery, such as Boxing Day. Is that when you put all your belongings into boxes? Or do you take a swing at your neighbor that day? With Australia, Canada, Denmark, Greece, Finland, Kenya, Norway, and the U.K. all celebrating Boxing Day, it must be fun, whatever the heck it is.

So have all the fun you want. Today, somewhere, for some reason, is a certified holiday. And if you party a little to hard, set aside November 16. That's Repentance Day, in Germany.

I'll take that as a compliment

Dear Larz:

Once again I find myself writing a letter to you in response to a letter received by you from Betsy Woods dated February 22, 1995.

She states "Your insulting remarks at my cousins Selectman Gerry Duggan and former superintendent Paul Duggan of the Water Department are nothing short of slander. Their reputations are beyond reproach. Also, my cousin Paul Duggan has never been charged with any wrongdoings." You must have forgotten or neglected to mention that your cousin, Paul Duggan, performed water sewer connections on town time, with town materials, and pocketed the money. You neglected or forgot to say that your cousin Selectman Gerry Duggan tried to flex his muscle as selectman and tried to help his brother relative to this investigation in a political way and cover it all up.

First of all, you are correct in saying that your cousin, Paul Duggan has not been formally charged, however, the state Attorney General's office, the Middlesex District Attorney's Office, and the Wilmington Police Department have found and stated in all their reports, that your cousin, Paul Duggan did commit criminal wrongdoings relative to the investigation that took place and one of the reasons why he was not charged is because, the statute of limitations has run out, another reason was because of limited resources, and ongoing investigations in the state Attorney General's Office.

Also, relative to your cousin Selectman Gerry Duggan, he stated in his own report, that "We can find no reason why the Water Department has to be part of the Wilmington DPW." It was reorganized by Town manager Mike Caira because of the corruption that existed in that department while it was under the supervision of your cousin, Paul Duggan. Your cousin, Selectman Duggan, has neither commented nor agreed that there was criminal wrongdoings relative to the department that our cousin supervised. Your cousin Selectman Gerry Duggan, did everything in his power as selectman to bring back the "good old days." As far as I'm concerned, the people in this community who foot the bill in this town have a right to know what happened, as they could clearly see at the last selectmen's meeting.

You also state that I (Mike McCoy) have a head like a block of cement. I agree, when it is set correctly, it cannot be changed. Thanks for the compliment.

Signed,
Michael V. McCoy
P.S. You ask "Who in the hell are the people in this town who elected you?" I think those people who elected me were looking for someone who would be honest and tell it the way it is, and won't be submissive to the idea of getting along by going along, but I am willing to work with anyone who puts the best interest of the community first. I am highly offended by that statement, and that you insulted those people who voted for me.

Signed
Michael V. McCoy, Chairman
Wilmington Board of Selectmen

Lock the door, the horse is loose!

Dear Larz:

With reference to the break into Tewksbury Memorial High School February 20/21 in which thousands of dollars worth of computer and related equipment was stolen I, as a taxpayer and resident of the town of Tewksbury, am appalled to learn that my and your tax dollars which are collected with such an anxious sense of interest are safeguarded with such lack of same. This is not the first intrusion into our schools and will probably not be the last.

Sometimes we, as taxpayers, have little to say how our monies are spent except through elected and/or appointed officials. By putting my trust in their judgment and wisdom I feel that, in this instance, I, too have been violated. Perhaps part of our hard earned monies that we channeled into a multi-thousand dollar raise to our town manager should/could have been channeled for the purchase of some invasive detection device(s) that might have thwarted this deed in the first place.

Now that the horse has been let out, perhaps our town fathers will approve a lock for the door. We will just have to wait and see. Again!

Sincerely
Name withheld by request

Thank you, Rep. Brenton

Dear Larz:

Several weeks ago, the Massachusetts Legislature passed the most comprehensive welfare reform package in the nation. This was due in large part to the leadership efforts of Governor Weld and our own Precinct 3 State Representative Marianne Brenton.

Representative Brenton voted in favor of the welfare reform bill that for the first time will require able bodied men and women to get back to work. In doing this, she has effectively transformed Massachusetts from the "State of Entitlements" to the home of independence and self-sufficiency.

Representative Brenton's vote also required children to stay in school, limited welfare benefits to a two year period and instituted a family cap that will discourage recipients from having more children (which automatically hampers people from getting back on their feet). These are the building blocks of self-sufficiency and a stronger society. The taxpayers will no longer be forced to work so that others can stay at home.

These reforms have been in the works for years, but with the public's demand for change and Representative Brenton's help, they have finally become reality. I applaud Representative Brenton and all the legislators who voted for the bill in standing up for the taxpayers and bringing common sense back to a failed welfare system.

Sincerely yours,
Ted Tripp

Tech plans graduation party

Dear Friends:

In preparation for the graduation of Shawsheen Tech Class of 1995, a committee of parents and school personnel is planning a spectacular, safe, alcohol free party to be held on graduation night, Thursday, June 8 from 10 p.m. to 5 a.m.

As with any major undertaking, advanced planning is the key to success. So far, we expect to include games, contests, prizes music provided by disc jockeys, and of course, lots and lots of food. We are turning to the business communities of the five towns that Shawsheen Tech serves to help provide the needed supplies to ensure the party's success.

Every business can help in one way or another. For instance, food service businesses may wish to donate prepared foods such as pizza, subs, or gift certificates; retail businesses may choose to provide gifts and prizes such as clothes, electronic goods, popular CDs, tapes, gift certificates, etc.; an entertainment business might like to provide various game equipment such as a juke box, pin ball or video game machines, billiard or ping pong tables, etc. Also, these and other businesses who want to contribute in some way may wish to send a cash donation. Whatever way you are willing and able to lend a hand would be greatly appreciated. All donations are tax deductible and all contributors will be recognized in the class of 1995 year book.

These young adults are an important thread in the fabric of our community. They are our future employees, our future business owners, our future leaders. Let us work together to provide an exciting but safe environment for them to celebrate their graduation together as a class.

If you would like to join us in this effort, please let us know how your company can assist. Thank you for your consideration and we look forward to your response.

Sincerely,
Shawsheen Tech

T.D. Waffle
283 Old Main St., Tewksbury
(508) 640-9610

T. D. Waffle... where "Breakfast is served all day with More!"
And wait till you see the breakfasts! Their extensive menu includes waffles, eggs (cooked any style), omelettes, morning sandwiches, pancakes & French toast, and side orders. Try their "Fresh Fruit Waffle" with banana, kiwi, cantaloupe & strawberries, for $4.75. If you're really hungry, there's the "Tewksbury Redmen" - 3 eggs with sirloin tips and waffle - for $6.50.

As for the "More"... T. D. Waffle also offers lunch and dinner. For lunch, choose from soup, salads, and sandwiches. Dinners will bring back memories of home cooking - ziti, lasagna, roast beef or turkey dinner, ham & scalloped potatoes, liver & onions, meat loaf, and include daily specials - corned beef and cabbage on Monday, barbecued sirloin tips, fresh fish or fish and chips on Friday.

It's been only two years since owners Tom Seto ("T") and Dave Donovan ("D") opened T. D. Waffle. It's a family restaurant with a casual and comfortable atmosphere, and courteous, friendly service. Orders are prepared before you on an open grill, and are made with only the freshest ingredients. Even the orange juice comes from a "fresh squeezed OJ" machine. This waffle house is now selling 400-500 waffles each day. In fact, business has been so good that they have plans to open a second restaurant in Burlington.

T. D. Waffle is open Sunday-Thursday: 5:30am to 9pm; and Friday & Saturday: 5:30am to 10pm. They offer a senior citizen meal discount and a children's menu. Their full menu is available for take-out (call (508) 640-9619 or 640-0159 in advance). They're conveniently located at 283 Old Main Street, Tewksbury (off Route 495 on Route 38 East).

Stelio's Family Restaurant, 144 Lowell St • 658-9782

A reputation for good food is hard to get. A reputation for good food like Stelio's Restaurant is really hard to get. For years the best way to give directions to Wilmington to a resident of eastern Massachusetts has been: "Go to Stelio's..." and continue from there. It's more than just good food and plenty of it.

The Kaisikis family started their restaurant in 1978 in the old Sunnyside building. Only weeks before, the previous owner lamented that it was impossible to run a successful restaurant in the old building. But the day Stelio's opened, it was impossible to get a seat. The line went outside, and around the corner. The seafood was fantastic!

After a fire gutted the building in 1980, a new restaurant was built with plenty of seating. Stelio's can now seat more than 100 hungry customers at a time.

The expansion brought a larger menu, too. You'll find Italian, Greek, seafood and American favorites, all at prices that will please you.

One of the best reasons to run a business in Wilmington is the quality of the employees you can hire. Stelio's has a staff of local people who, without a doubt, are the friendliest waitresses in the area. You get a real feeling of being at home, except you don't have to do the dishes! Many of the waitresses have been there for years, seven, ten and even seventeen years!

Breakfast at Stelio's is a tradition for many local construction workers. You'll see the trucks as you drive in. Sundays, however, are different. The trucks are replaced by dozens and dozens of family cars. Thanksgiving is another tradition. The Wilmington High School football team has breakfast there just before meeting Tewksbury on the field.

Make Stelio's your tradition. They are open Monday through Saturday 6 a.m. to 9 p.m. Sundays from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Recycling: Tewksbury beats Wilmington, but not Andover

by Jeff Nazzaro
Recycling report cards are out, but school is still in session. The results for both Tewksbury and Wilmington resident recyclists: C.

What, one may inquire, is a recycling report card? The report card, issued by the Executive Office of Environmental Affairs, takes information on recycling provided by municipalities and offers a percentage rate, accompanied by an A-F letter grade.

It is being used as "a tool to encourage municipalities to meet the state's goal of a 46 percent recycling rate by the year 2000," according to the EOE.

Tewksbury and Wilmington both came in under the statewide median grade of B, or 28 percent. Tewksbury edged their southern neighbors by three percentage points, 17 to 14.

Actually, most communities received C's. Of the state's 351 cities and towns, 54 garnered top grades, 74 hit for B's, 122 came in with C's, 24 had D's, 12 took the big F and 65 registered incompletes, listed as Unknown.

Of surrounding towns, Billerica, Reading, North Reading, Burlington and Chelmsford all scored C's. Of those, Billerica was lowest, tallying 11 percent.

Andover and North Andover had the highest rates for the area, both scoring A's at 30 and 36 percent, respectively.

For cities, Wilmington's neighboring metropolis, Woburn, came in at eight percent, for a grade of D, and exactly half what Tewksbury's big sister, Lowell, scored.

"By encouraging recycling and composting, Massachusetts will reduce environmental and public health risks and enhance a thriving recycling industry," an EOAC letter accompanying the reports reads.

"Today, this industry's value to the Commonwealth's economy exceeds $600 million and represents more than 10,000 jobs."

Teri LaBella is hard at work preparing information for the Business Expo 95 to be held May 4 at the Shriners Auditorium by the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce

Plans for Expo 95 coming together

What most people don't realize is that planning for Expo 95, began five minutes after Expo 94 finished. When you are involved, you sit down and after breathing a sigh of relief, start making lists and thinking ok, what worked, what didn't; what could we have done better. Could we have anticipated that problem? Wasn't that a nice surprise? You kind of live with the Expo for a whole year. Every time I go somewhere or read something, I wonder if it could be adapted to the Expo.

First meeting you try not to reinvent the wheel. You try to hang onto those things that work, but everyone in a committee has a different opinion of what worked and that's when the fun part of the process begins. If you're a small business owner, the one thing that is usually missing is the opportunity to brainstorm with other people, see other viewpoints. That's one of my favorite reasons for belonging to the Chamber of Commerce. The opportunity to mix with other business owners and individuals from other business industries is incredible. When you have a Chamber as active and as varied as the Wilmington Chamber you are very fortunate. New ideas, the sharing of information, and the opportunity to make people more aware of my business and what it can offer are only a few of the incentives. You get back what you put in.

Watching the ideas flow is incredible. One suggestion inspires another idea, some good, some bad, but many to choose from. A good example is this year's theme. Each year we decide on a theme for our focus. Last year was "Big Business Helping Small Business." This year, Debbie Todd of The Lord Wakefield suggested "Looking to the Future." She wanted to see something upbeat and positive. The committee agreed and "Looking to the Future" became our goal.

From that idea, came the idea of inviting the high school and Shawsheen Tech to participate in an art show. Knowing the kind of space available at the Shriners' this year's location for the Expo, I thought an art show would provide an opportunity to showcase some of the talent available in our younger community, our future.

Marie Shack, an art teacher at Wilmington High School accepted the invitation and her students have been at work since September, planning their contribution. Recent newspaper articles reflecting the awards won at the Boston Globe Scholastic Art Awards by local high school youth make me feel very proud to have them participating.

It is a wonderful opportunity for all involved. Of course the art show from the future business community led us to think about the past. Ken Mastrullo of Agfa, Division of Miles suggested a historical perspective of Wilmington and the business community. Phone calls to the Historical Society lead to their agreeing to hold a photograph exhibit of Wilmington as it was in the past. The present and the past working together.

It is an amazing thing what minds can do when they work together for a common goal.

Our floor plan is pretty well set and we have a few more spaces to fill. I hope those businesses who are Chamber members and haven't already chosen their booth location will call the Chamber and reserve their spot. Any business who would like more information about joining the Chamber and being part of Expo 95 should call 508-657-7211.

We are looking forward to an exciting Expo 95. In the past we have had as many as 80 exhibitors showcasing their businesses and products. It is an easy one stop shopping trip that gives people an opportunity to see what local businesses have to offer.

This year's Expo will be held Thursday, May 4 at the Shriners Auditorium.

Preregistration ends March 15.

Brewing a batch of bocks, local brewers to compete

by Bill Conlon

Two beer-making contests are in the wings, and local homebrewers are hustling to put their best brew forward.

On Monday, March 6, members of the Merrimack Valley Brewers will assemble at Aubut's Liquors in Tewksbury at 7:30 p.m. for an in-house contest.

The beer to be judged at Aubut's will be bocks, a family of German lagers customarily made in spring. However, there are different styles of bocks, and MVB members have been advised to put their brews into the proper category for judging. Members of the club will serve as judges, and they will need to pick the best traditional bock, helles (light) bock, doublebock, and Eisbock.

The winning entry in the Aubut's beer-making contest will be sent to the "Bock is Best" contest judging on March 20, in Nashua, N.H. The later competition is open to club-sponsored brews only. There are no membership dues or attendance requirements in the Merrimack Valley Brewers club, so if you have a good bock to be sampled, you're a member.

A second beer-making challenge in the area will be judged April 28, by the Lowell Brewing Company, the makers of the Mill City line of beers and root beer.

Lowell Brewing wants to launch India Pale Ale and American Wheat Ale lines, using local recipes.

Local homebrewers are asked to turn out their best India Pale Ale, and-or American Wheat Ale, to be judged on April 28. One winner in each category will be selected, with the winning entry produced under the Mill City label. Credit for the recipes will be given on the label to the winning brewers, but there is no monetary compensation.

Entrants in the Lowell Brewing contest must submit four bottles (12 or 22 ounce) of their brew, bearing the name, address and telephone number of the homebrewer. The entries may be delivered to Lowell Brewing Company between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. on weekdays.

A reception and buffet for the homebrew contestants will be held on May 8 at the Brewery Exchange, where winners will be announced.

contour bikini lines and eliminate superfluous hair.

Dr. Ricardo Azziz, an associate professor at the University of Alabama at Birmingham, a specialist in reproductive endocrinology, has been researching hirsutism (male pattern hair growth in women) for over 10 years and has seen nearly 500 patients with this condition.

According to Dr. Azziz, women with excess hair often have underlying hormonal imbalance that may result in other symptoms and side effects, including obesity, acne, hair loss, infertility and irregular menstruation. Dr. Azziz recommends that any one suffering with these symptoms should consult their doctor or seek the help of a reproductive endocrinologist. If you are tired of having excess hair and are no longer satisfied with your temporary method of hair removal, call for an appointment and together we'll find a treatment plan to best suit your needs.

The Wilmington Minutemen entertained nearly 100 of their fellow patriots on Saturday evening at the Sons of Italy Lodge at their 17th annual Colonial Ball. A raffle was held to distribute some donated items, mostly hand made. Captain Paul Nett (right) read the numbers as newly elected Captain Steve Leet was left holding the bucket. To the left are Pete Newman and Jim Murray checking the list twice.

Shawsheen Tech February students of the month

Seniors Jill Branley of Wilmington and Daniel Kump of Billerica, have been named "Teenagers of the Month" for February at Shawsheen Tech. The program is sponsored by the Billerica Lodge of Elks. Both are honor roll students and recipients of many citizenship awards, given to students deemed "pleasant to teach."

Jill Branley

Jill is the daughter of Susan and Kenneth Branley of Wilmington and specializes in business information services. She said she chose that field after exploring careers as a ninth grader "because I liked accounting and the variety." She has tested her clerical skills in the workplace as a summer school secretary for Shawsheen Tech. Following graduation she plans to attend college and major in elementary education. She believes the skills learned in her program, including typing, word processing and shorthand will help her with college level reports and possibly help pay her way in part-time summer work.

Active in sports at Shawsheen, Jill received the Outstanding Athlete of the Year Award for 1993-94. She is co-captain of the volleyball, softball and swim teams and has been an All-Star for volleyball and softball and a softball MVP. She is a member of the Shawsheen Technical Skills Honor Society and peer leadership.

Daniel Kump

Dan is the son of John and Linda Kump of Billerica and specializes in masonry, a field in which he proved his skills last year, winning third place and a bronze medal at the Mass. Skill Olympics of Vocational Industrial Clubs of America (VICA). He will compete at the district finals March 6 and hopes to again qualify for state competition.

Although Dan thought carpentry would be his first choice when he entered Shawsheen, after ninth grade career exploratory, electrical and masonry were at the top of his list.

He played hockey and baseball for Shawsheen and has been a member of VICA since sophomore year. He is a peer leader who represented Shawsheen at the Mass. Peer Institute. He has been a member of the Billerica Boys Club and the American Legion Baseball team. He works as the assistant head cashier at Market Basket in Billerica. He enjoys hiking and downhill skiing.

Following graduation, he plans to work full time in masonry over the summer, saving money for college where he would like to major in music education with an eventual goal of teaching guitar. He started playing guitar seven years ago and last year formed a band, "Nook" with three other musicians. "Nook" is slated to play at Shawsheen's new Club 95 on March 10.

Doug Sears candidate for Tewksbury School Committee

Doug Sears, a five year resident of Geiger Drive, has a pre-school son and a daughter in kindergarten at North Street. "We must provide Tewksbury's children the best possible education within our means," Sears says. "To bring 'Tewksbury Pride' back into the classroom we must develop an atmosphere from K-12 that encourages a life long love of learning."

A student who experiences this commitment in a teacher makes the most of the available opportunities and resources. The ability to convey the excitement of learning is what real teaching is all about," Sears seeks to continue to find ways to reward excellence in teaching, and to ensure that each teacher and administrator receives an impartial, professional annual performance review.

"People perform at the level of expectation. We expect our children to exceed the state average on standardized tests, not just to meet it. We expect our teachers to spend the time necessary to teach, not just to remediate. If we expect improved SAT and MEAP test results, we must hold the School Department accountable for the quality of our children's education. I find it reasonable to measure the excellence of our teachers by their achievements with our children, and to insist as taxpayers that we accept nothing less than schools that teach our children the skills necessary to succeed."

Sears, now an attorney, formerly taught English and Latin at high schools in Medford, Malden and Stoneham. "It alarms me to see how many students each year are leaving the Tewksbury school system for private schools. This is not a vote of confidence. It is disheartening to hear parents tell me that their achieving son or daughter must teach themselves while their teachers spend the bulk of the class time remediating others," Sears claims the answer is not to throw money at the problem, but to channel the expectations of the community. "Only through active community involvement will Tewksbury's children achieve a better future," Sears says.

Sears, Deputy Director of the Division of Dispute Resolution of the Commonwealth's Workers' Compensation system, holds a B.A. (magna) from Harvard College, a M.Div from Harvard Divinity School, a M.Ed. from Boston State College, a J.D. from Suffolk Law School, and last May completed the "Program for Senior Managers of the Commonwealth" at the John F. Kennedy School of Government.

Sears is currently certified to teach English, Social Studies, History and be a Jr./Sr. High Principal and Asst. Sup./Superintendent. He is active in many local organizations:

North Street PAC, Trustee of Tewksbury State Hospital, Historic Commission, Tewksbury Historical Society, Trails Committee, and Trustee Representative to the Land Use Task Force. "I have no axe to grind. As a parent, I want the best for my child. I want the public schools to provide it. I look forward to working as a School Committee member with citizens who share a similar expectations for their children and grandchildren."

Dan Wandell candidate for Wilmington Board of Selectmen

Dan Wandell of Shawsheen Avenue, Wilmington has announced his candidacy for one of two seats on the Wilmington Board of Selectmen in the election to be held on April 15.

Dan graduated from Wilmington High School with the Class of 1946 and is a Korean Conflict Navy Veteran, having served from 1950-1954.

He has been happily married to the former Betty Hennessy for 40 years. They have five daughters and two sons and are the grandparents of 14 youngsters.

More than 300 people attended Dan's retirement party two years ago when he culminated an outstanding career with the Wilmington Fire Department where he had worked his way up from firefighter to fire chief, a position which he held for 13 years.

The former chief attended North Shore Community College and was also an instructor in Fire Science at Middlesex Community College.

He has served on the Board of Directors of the Mass. Fire Chiefs' Association. He is also a former member of the Knights of Columbus and the Wilmington Rotary Club.

Dan feels that Wilmington's taxpayers have never been reluctant to make an investment in their community when they felt the arguments were compelling. This has held true for public safety, public works and most recently education.

This was evident with the most recent announcement pertaining to the Boutwell School where he also felt that the town has to always take the first step to see if its problems can be solved by looking inwardly to the town budget which on the revenue side is dependent on local aid, including lottery monies and locally generated revenue from current real estate taxes before it even begins to remotely entertain other sources of funding. We must always be aware of the burden our taxpayers are carrying.

Dan also feels that our growth has to be handled in an orderly fashion. We should always weigh the impact on our schools and our natural resources such as our water supply so that we aren't always put in a position of reacting to crises.

As local officials we must never be reluctant to take positions on state and federal issues especially when programs for the elderly such as meals on wheels is being threatened. And to this end he will work closely with the elderly who are also involved with our drop-in center.

And finally and equally as important, Dan Wandell promises to the citizens of this community that he will represent them and them only, and will not become involved in divisive politics.

He will work as a full time selectman and will make himself available at all times.

He feels it's time for a new face and has only Wilmington's best interest at heart.

Patrick Schofield, Nicholas Figueiredo and Chad Cochran watch eagerly as worker bees gather nectar and pollen during their studies of the partnership of bees and flowers in Mrs. Welch's third grade class in Wilmington's Woburn Street School.

FULL DISCLOSURE IS THE BEST STRATEGY

You are about to list your home, and since you have lived there for many years, you know that it is not perfect. There's a leak in the basement that is noticeable only after a major rain, the garage door that sticks, the toilet in the master bath that works like a fountain, and the dishwasher that is prone to work stoppages.

Any home is going to have some quirks. When it is time to sell your home, you have a choice of either making the repairs or letting the buyers know what the problems are, especially potentially serious problems. Some buyers will want a structural inspection so that they will have a good idea about what they are getting into. Even if the buyers don't ask for an expert to look at the house, it is the seller's responsibility to disclose any defects in the property they know about.

A concealed problem may come back to haunt you after the closing. Many lawsuits involve undisclosed defects, and the settlement of these cases makes the cost of repair or the price concession during the sales look like a real bargain.

Latin lives at Tewksbury Memorial High School

The Junior Classical League, under the direction of Mrs. Maureen Rideout, is planning a busy spring. Students who take Latin in Tewksbury Memorial High School are eligible to join his group. The Junior Classical League has state and national affiliations. In fact, Tewksbury senior Ann Lane is secretary for the Mass. Junior Classical League. Local chapter officers are sophomore Wayne Cabradilla, David Cronin, Nick Solis and freshman Sharon Elliman.

The members of Tewksbury High School will be attending Classics Day at Harvard University. The students will be able to choose two sessions out of 10 that will be offered. Each session will be taught by a college professor on classical topics of the Roman and Greek era. Members will also take the national Latin test. Medals are awarded for the best scores. They will also take part in a field trip to the Museum of Fine Arts.

The local Junior Classical League has just started a fund raiser called "Rent a Slave." The members will assist faculty by sprucing up rooms, washing blackboards, putting up bulletin boards, etc. for a nominal fee. The money will be used by the members to help with the cost of attending state conventions. The conventions are a combination of academic contests as well as athletic events. It is an enjoyable way to learn and meet new people. This organization is just one of the many and varied group at Tewksbury Memorial High School.

Rotary names April 7 as World Health Day

Local Rotary International District 7930 joins Rotary districts world wide, in recognizing April 7, 1995 as "World Health Day," in an unprecedented global attempt by governments, health organizations and Rotary clubs to rid the world of polio, a disease that cripples and kills more than 100,000 children every year.

"Many people think that polio is a disease of the past," said John E. Lotspiech, District 7930 Governor. "Sadly, they are mistaken. There were 110,000 estimated polio cases in 1993, including an estimated 11,000 deaths. A lot has been achieved in the last 10 years in fighting polio and there are now more than 140 countries which are polio-free. But it is a constant struggle to stop the disease from returning. No country must become complacent."

Spearheaded by the World Health Organization, the World Health Day focus on polio eradication has sparked an overwhelming response.

Rotary clubs and other volunteer groups will organize a variety of events to raise public awareness levels in their own communities. At least 17 countries are planning April immunization campaigns to administer polio vaccine to more than 40 million children.

The Rotary Foundation's $246 million PolioPlus program supports immunization activities in 103 countries. The goal is to eradicate polio by the year 2000 and to certify that eradication by 2005.

Wilmington Women's Club to hear about "Presidential Landmarks of New England"

The Wilmington Women's Club Annual Guest Night will be held on Wednesday, March 15 with a catered dinner at 6:30. Jeanne Boeri will give the blessing. Hostesses for the dinner will be Sarah Cosman and Susan Durante as chairmen of a committee comprised of Margaret Brooks, Helen Doherty, Marie McClanahan, Jean Miceli, Charlotte Thompson, Florence Webster, and Barbara Wiberg.

Following dinner and a very brief meeting President Edith Michelson will introduce the speaker of the evening, David S. Kruh of Reading. He will speak on the subject of old Boston and on the topic of his book, "Presidential Landmarks in New England," written with his father, Louis, which describes the New England presidents, their birthplaces, homes, libraries, burial sites and other historical landmarks. A previous book by David Kruh published in 1988 was a triple sell out. It was titled "Always Something Doing, a History of Boston's Infamous Scollay Square."

It was written during Mr. Kruh's tenure at Boston's WRKO when he heard a story about a bawdy place his uncle (a former sailor) went to during the second world war called Scollay Square. It promises to be a nostalgic evening for those who remember this teeming center of entertainment.

Reservations for this catered dinner must be made by Wednesday, March 8. Please call Edith Michelson at 658-2100.

Sewer Department before an inspection will be undertaken. No cost is attached to the marking of utilities.

To obtain an upgrade, property owners should first retain the services of an installer licensed in the Town of Wilmington, as well as a registered sanitarian or a registered professional engineer.

From there, soil tests, system upgrade design plans, permits, actual construction, inspection of the upgrade, "as built plan" of the completed system, final backfilling, submittal of "as built plan" to the board of health and a signing off by all involved follow.

The town has its own set of regulations to supplement those of the state.

"When there are things that aren't in Title 5, we have the ability to make regulations," Erickson said.

Erickson also said local regulations will be less strict as a result of more stringent state codes.

"We're reducing our regulatory requirements on the local level because the state is increasing theirs," Erickson stated.

A public hearing will be held Monday by the board of health for the purpose of gaining input - either oral or written - into the new local regulations. The hearing will be held during the board's regular meeting, which begins at 5:15 p.m. The hearing should get underway 15 minutes after that.

Last Thursday, about 250 residents attended a Title 5 presentation hosted by the Mass. Health Officers Association and the DEP.

schools, since kindergarten is the entry level.

Most of the above means an estimated $60-80,000 in savings, which is the compelling factor here, since those extra funds are not currently available.

But while the opening of the Boutwell will help alleviate overcrowding problems in the schools for the next school year, O'Donnell again warned that the fix will be a temporary one.

"I think we'll be lucky if we can get by next year," O'Donnell said.

Under the all-kindergarten plan, those students from the actual Boutwell School district would stay at the school to attend first grade through fifth grade, with each succeeding group also remaining. But O'Donnell conceded that this plan will only work for two years, and by the third, the school will be full.

But were the Boutwell to be used as an elementary school, it would be filled immediately.

"Children who live in that district already max out the school," O'Donnell said.

So while the acquisition of funding for the Boutwell marks the fruition by town and school officials of a lengthy search for an overcrowding solution, O'Donnell and the school committee must brace themselves for more of the same.

O'Donnell called the all-kindergarten setup a "solution to the budget proposal we have."

But School Committee Chairman Paul Palizzolo wanted to emphasize that the plan will serve as a Band-Aid at best.

"I think people have to understand that this is a minimum proposal," he said.

Boys hoop team loses in first round of state tourney, but...

by James Pote

After almost a two hour delay because of power failure, the Wildcats faced off against the Wildcats.

Ironically enough, the Wilmington Wildcats boys hoop team won their final four games of the season to get into state tournament play. And they traveled to Weston to take on the 17-3 Dual State Champions - also called the Wildcats. The delay was well worth it.

The entire game was a back and forth battle which Wilmington never came up. Whether it was diving for a loose ball or just outlasting an opponent, Wilmington stayed in the entire game. A few missed foul shots in the second half was the main reason why the Cinderella story team lost 72-59.

"We hung in the whole game. We gave them hell," said head coach Jim McCune.

Indeed this team was a Cinderella type story. At the start of the season no one thought they would win a game. And on Tuesday night in front of a packed house, Wilmington showed why they were participating in the state tournament: teamwork.

Throughout the entire season, each member of the team stepped up a notch of play. When leading scorer and one of three league all-stars Dan Kivlehan went down with a shoulder surgery, Brian Carroll, Paul Heigham and Pat Cahill combined for those lost minutes as all three of them put up solid numbers.

The other two league all-stars, point guard Dave DeSantis and power forward Paul Bruno were solid throughout the season and flashy to say the least on Tuesday. The former made many great moves and drives to the net to land him a team high 18 points against Weston. The latter who dominates in the rebound category, came away with 14 points.

Two more huge reasons of the team's success was by junior forward Doug Olander and freshman forward Scott Swiezynski. The two combined for nine points on Tuesday, while both of them proved they can shoot with the best of them.

Speaking of shooting, Wilmington had their share of that in the first half. DeSantis led with nine points followed by Kivlehan at seven and Bruno at six. Wilmington was trailing 35-29 at halftime, but a lot of their drives just wouldn't bounce their way.

However, at the buzzer of the first half, Carroll reinjured his ankle in which it was not completely healed anyway. Carroll went to the lockerroom and after a few minutes into the second half, he came out limping and immediately went into the game and what else, he gave it nothing but his best.

"Brian played great. He had is ankle injury and Danny Kivlehan had a terrible cold and they and the entire team played their hearts out," McCune said.

In the second half, Weston went on a 15-5 run in the first seven minutes. It stayed pretty much between the ten and 15 point difference until Wilmington got the lead down to nine with under three minutes left but they just couldn't cut the lead down any farther.

"What this basketball team has done this season is purely remarkable. They have showed Wilmington that they can play and this team has gained so much respect because of their hustle, competitiveness and determination. They gave it absolutely everything they had not only in this game but in every game," McCune said.

Weston on the other hand was also pretty impressive. They had four of their five starters who were in double figures in points. One of those included M.L. Carr's son who notched up eleven points. The rowdy point of the game came when Weston perfected a alley-oop to their big center and slammed home a basket. And the crowd went crazy.

Moreover, Wilmington had their share of crazed fans. Andy Paglia once again woke up the crowd when he performed with the cheerleaders in the "Willy" costume and he also got the Wilmington side fired up with constant chants.

Finally, as this writer was walking out the door of the gymnasium, head coach Jim McCune told his players to keep their heads up that they played outstanding.

He couldn't of said it any better.

Girls hoop team looking for more than small school championship

by James Pote

On Wednesday March first, while this paper is being printed, the Wilmington High School girls basketball team will be making their third consecutive state tournament appearance. It will also be the second straight for head coach Jim Tildsley who has only had the job for two years.

"I'm really happy [going to the tournament] for the kids. They have worked so hard to get here," Tildsley said.

"It was also real nice that Billerica beat Lawrence to give us the small school championship for the first time in a long while," Tildsley continued.

The girls will travel to Notre Dame Academy in Tyngsboro to take on a team who knows all about championships. The all female school has won the division three state championship three of the last five years.

"They have a strong team who is very well coached. They move the ball around the corners and they like to shoot three pointers," Tildsley said of what he will be expecting.

Last year, the girls were able to pull out a victory in tournament play when they beat Triton in dramatic fashion. At halftime, the girls were down by six points and they came out of the intermission and went on a 14-3 run to spark the Wildcats to a 59-53 win.

In that second half, Lynnette Sbrano lit up the scoreboard with 13 second half points, with Adrienne Fay chipping in with 19 throughout the entire game.

But in the second game of the tourney, the girls had their offensive troubles against Winthrop when they lost 55-27. Tildsley hopes those offensive troubles don't occur in this year's tournament.

"I'm really hoping we get off to a good start. It seems that whenever we do, we win."

Leading the way offensively for this year's club is forwards Leanne Harris and Erin Falzone who both were recognized as league all-stars with Harris getting an allconference nomination as well. The former is having a following up her all-star year with another one which started out with an impressive 26 point performance against Gloucester. She finished the season averaging 11.6 points per game and 8.8 rebounds per game while leading the team in steals with 61.

"Leanne has had a great year for us," Tildsley said.

Falzone on the other hand, is also a three sport star with volleyball and softball being the other sports she excels in. At the start of the year, she was primarily used as the sixth player as she did very well in that role. The last few games she has been starting at center - which she has scored in double figures in each of the last four games.

"Erin really turned it on in the second half. She has done everything I have and could have asked her to do," Tildsley said.

The other forwards are the combination of freshman Becky Rodgers, sophomore Lisa Southmayd and senior Jacqui Holloway.

Rodgers started the year as a back-up center. Prior to the first meeting against Tewksbury, she was moved from center to the small forward position which has helped her game out a lot. Tildsley hopes she can duplicate the 19 point performance she had against Tewksbury in that first meeting.

"Becky has done a lot better than I expected. She has had a great freshman year."

Southmayd and Holloway also three sport athletes have come alive most especially down the stretch when the team needed them too. The former is also a small forward while Holloway is primarily used as a center.

"It seems whenever the game is on the line Jacqui comes through - she definitely has helped us win some games this year," expressed Tildsley.

"Lisa has also had a strong year for us most especially in the second half," continued Tildsley.

The one aspect the team does need is the consistent production from the guards. If the team can relax and set-up their offense without panicking, then they will be able to put up the points they wish.

"Our offense has done pretty well this year. If they relax and don't turn the ball over we usually win," Tildsley said.

Point guards Nancy Pote and Renee Vachon have done a fine job thus far of bring up the ball and starting the team's offense. The former specializes in a lot of assists, steals and great drives to the net. The latter has improved a lot from not only last year but from the start of this season. However, the last few games she didn't play because of an ankle injury.

"We really have missed Renee the last three games. She has come along way over the course of the season." Tildsley also said Vachon's ankle is about 80 percent and that she is still not completely healthy.

The other three guards, senior co-captain Jacqui Hayden (yes, another three sport athlete on the team - actually six of the ten are), Jenna Tait and Jaime Forgett have also done a fine job this season.

"My two captains [Hayden and Pote] have done a great job this year. Jacqui average one point a game but whenever she is out on the court, good things happen for our team."

"Nancy is our floor leader. She has turned it on in the second half because she realize that her job is to start the offense, and not necessarily to score points. She has done really well if not the best the past few weeks in foul shooting. She plays great defense and she drives to the net which usually gets her fouled which sends her to the line," said Tildsley.

Senior Jaime Forgett is a pure shooter. She is coming off a great soccer season and is carrying that success to hoop where she can bury the baseline jumper or the three pointer. If her shots follow, and the rest of the team come through with their capabilities, then the Cats should come out of the tournament with a few victories.

"Jaime has really helped us. When she is on her game she is really on her game and we really need that," exclaimed Tildsley.

Tildsley also said that Falzone, Harris and Southmayd will be the starters at the center and two forward spots, respectively against Notre Dame, while, Pote and Vachon will be starting at the two guard positions.

Tildsley also said freshmen Catherine Townsend and Karen MacArthur as well as sophomore Debbie McFeeters and junior Jaclyn Harrison will be brought up from the junior varsity in the tournament games.

Becky Rodgers has had a solid freshman year for the WHS girls basketball team. She will be looking to keep that going in the state tournament which will start Wednesday night.

IF YOU MEET A BURGLAR

QUESTION: What should I do if a burglar enters my home while I am there?

ANSWER: Burglars are anti-social. The last thing they want is to meet the "burgleree". Try to avoid meeting him at all. Shut, and if possible, lock a door between you and the burglar. Phone the police, then open a window and holler. If you wake up and find a burglar in your room, pretend to be asleep until he's gone.

Don't confront the burglar. Don't pull a gun or other weapon. He may respond by using his own weapon. Chances are if you don't provoke a burglar he won't harm you. Don't fight him unless you are attacked.

IF YOU MEET a burglar in your home in the middle of the night, try to avoid confrontation.

Hockey team to face Masco on Saturday

by James Pote

On Saturday night, at UMass Boston, the Wilmington High School hockey team will be making their first state tournament appearance since 1990. They will face future Cape Ann League opponent Masconomet with the puck being dropped at 7:30.

Just this past week, head coach Steve Scanlon took the coach of the year honors while senior forward Mike Barry who netted 15 goals was named to the second all conference team. Sophomore Dennis Torpey who was among the league leaders in scoring also got recognition with an honorable mention.

Wilmington clinched their tourney birth with a win over North Reading. After that they lost to Tewksbury and Andover with a tie against Concord-Carlisle sandwiched between those two losses. With that they finished the year at 10-9-1 compared to the 8-12 record they had last season. The ten wins got them a number 24 seed out of a possible 25. Their neighbors Tewksbury, who finished at 14-5-1 received a tenth seed and they will also play at UMass against Lynn English on Friday night.

If Wilmington beats Masco on Saturday, they then will face the winner of Canton/Rockland game on Thursday, March ninth at Stoneham with the start slated for eight o'clock. If Masco beats Wilmington, the Cats will go home after a successful season. If they win their first two games, the third will be Saturday March 11 at Merrimack College.

The last time Wilmington made it to the tournament was 1990 when Austin Prep defeated them at Merrimack College. But, back in 1982 Wilmington lost to Christopher Columbus in the finals which was played at Boston Garden.

Masco was seeded ninth with their 13-4-2 record. They lost their big scorer from last year in Dan Marcotte, who had 28 goals and 28 assists for 56 points. This year they will rely on junior forwards Brian Sennott and John Vecchione who both combined for 42 points last season and sophomore Andy LeColst.

The biggest reason why Masco is in the tournament is their strong defensive style which is manned by senior defenseman Brian Coffin and junior netminder Ben Canonica. The team is not only great defenders but they are tight checkers who slow down the pace of the game, which could aggravate the dump and chase style of Wilmington.

Wilmington on the other hand really don't have a go to scorer - they have a wide range of players to go to. Barry, Torpey and Caples scored 46 goals between them and the trio will be looked upon to put the biscuit in the net. Seniors Matt Calandrello and Mike Giodano can also put the puck in the net. The former has great moves which showed when he put one in the net on a breakaway against Tewksbury.

If Wilmington can advance it will be because of their defensive play. Jason Dango is very solid in net and he is only a sophomore. The biggest concern will be the rebounds and if the defensive crew can get the puck out or if Dango can cover up the puck as much as possible, then they should be in good shape.

Senior captain John Lynch will be expected to carry the defensive crew's load. Senior Ryan Swasey, junior Dave Bennett and sophomore Brian Herman will be the other trio to man the blue line and if they can get off a lot of shots, the Cats should be able to score if their big guys are in front of the net.

This team is also a much more physical team than it has been in the past few years. Barry and Caples are arguable the best checkers on the team and if Wilmington comes out flat and don't check then they will be in trouble. On the other hand, this team is a much stronger skating team than Wilmington usually sees and if they come out flying and hitting, then good things should happen.

Another big need for Wilmington to come out with a win is their production from all three lines - not just one or not just two. All three lines are pretty much even and if one doesn't come to play then too much pressure will be put on the other two.

Seniors Chris White and Charlie Ross will be looked on to carry some minutes as well as sophomores Danny Abbott and John Considine who all have shown the ability to play. The senior pair can also score and bang, while the sophomore crew does nothing but hustle and then hustle some more.

This team is a lot of fun to watch so things could get interesting.

Dennis Torpey will be looked upon to score some goals for the WHS hockey team who made it to state tournament play. Torpey, a sophomore, was named as a honorable mention player of the league's best players. (Photo by Jeff Nazzaro).

Mite B's compete in tourney

The Wilmington Mite B team has been playing its best hockey of the year coming into the Tewksbury Tournament and hoped it would continue against a Tewksbury team that beat the Wildcats twice earlier in the year. The game started with Tewksbury receiving a penalty.

The Wildcats quickly took advantage on the power play when Tim Madden sent Dean Smith in for a high rising shot to the far corner that gave the Wildcats a quick 1-0 lead.

Jimmy Fitzpatrick in goal was called upon to make many good saves and was quick to freeze the puck when the team needed to regroup.

The game stayed at 1-0 into the second period until Zack Wilkins scored an unassisted goal for a two goal lead. Kevin Velardo playing forward instead of defense, had two good chances but just missed the far corner of the net.

Tewksbury stormed back in the third period with two quick goals by Brian Kittle assisted by Patrick Fitzmaurice and Bryan Donahue and Stephen Riccio.

It was seat squirming time again for Wilmington as Dean Smith had two good chances and Zack Wilkins rang one off the goal post, but the Wildcats could not score.

The game ended tied and it was a fun game for all. Eddie Lopez was called upon to play defense at the last minute and had an outstanding game.

The second game was against a very strong Wakefield team and the Wildcats fell behind quickly 1-0. Timmy Madden playing right wing picked up a loose puck at center ice and made a nice play to kick it ahead to himself, went in alone and scored for his first goal of the year for a 1-1 tie.

Jonathan Berkeley in net was soon to find out how strong Wakefield was as he saw many pucks for the rest of the game as Wakefield put this game away.

The Wildcats needed to regroup for the third game and Bryant Buck was called upon to play goal at the last minute when the goalie forgot his hockey pants. Bryant was up to the task and made two good saves to keep the game scoreless.

Zack Wilkins broke the tie in the middle of the first period on an unassisted goal. The game stayed at 1-0 with Bennett playing great hockey.

The Wildcats increased the lead to two when Dean Smith scored assisted by Ray Bennett. Cambridge tied the game on two quick goals. Wilmington kept the pressure on with Richie Buckley, Joey Pino, Timmy Madden, and Jimmy Fitzpatrick all having good scoring chances, but could not break the tie.

The fourth game was against a strong Medford team, in a game Wilmington gave the defenseman a chance to play center.

Medford started strong and shot many pucks at Joey Pino in goal. Both Kevin Velardo and Tim Madden playing at center had many chances but could not score.

Wilmington appeared tired with the fifth game in six days, but was determined to break up the shutout bid of Medford. Wilmington did then score with 50 seconds left in the game.

The tournament was great fun for everyone with the game playing four teams that are in higher divisions and played extremely well. Congratulations to Tim Aldrich, Ray Bennett, Jonathan Berkeley, Bryant Buck, Richie Buckley, Jimmy Fitzpatrick, Eddie Lopez, Timmy Madden, Joey Pinok, Dean Smith, Kevin Velardo, and Zack Wilkins. Scott Rivers was on vacation and did not participate in the tournament.

Wilmington 9 Beverly 2

The Wilmington Mite B Youth Hockey team have been playing very well since the first of the year, but finally gave the coaches a chance to relax in this game instead of another nail biter as Wilmington came out strong and kept the pressure in the Beverly end in their game this past weekend.

Tim Marden made a nice pass to Ray Bennett at center ice and Ray pushed the puck by the defenseman and went in alone for the first goal of the game. Less than 30 seconds later Beverly broke in alone and tied the game on high shot to the corner.

The Mite B's kept the pressure on and Zack Wilkins broke the tie on a goal set up by Scott Rivers. The second period was only 12 seconds old, when Kevin Velardo found Ray Bennett who scored his second goal of the game.

Beverly came right back and scored when Wilmington's goalie Matt David was accidentally tripped by a Wilmington player. Wilmington continued its best skating and passing of the year and Tim Aldrich lit the lamp to give the Wildcats a 4-2 lead.

Matt David was solid in net, especially on two break aways that he calmly turned aside.

The third period was all Wilmington as they scored five more times. Zack Wilkins scored two more for his hat trick assisted on one by Timmy Aldrich. Aldrich scored his second goal which was assisted by Zack Wilkins.

Jimmy Fitzpatrick added to the scoring which was assisted by Jonathan Berkeley and last but not least, Ray Bennett scored for his hat trick.

their goalie with a minute left, they were just pummeling the Blue liners goalie with shot after shot, and he would not break. This was a very good game for the fans who showed.

Friday's games had Goldenstate and the Outlaws playing a back to back game with the Outlaws winning 9-6. High scorer in this one was Dan Marshall again. Come playoffs whoever plays against this man, put a body on him and just shut him down.

Friday's last game was played with Team 8 beating the Chiefs 6-2. Not much excitement in this one. I guess their just playing out the" season knowing their not making the playoffs.

The top four teams in the standings should make the playoffs unless there's a major turn around by one of the top five teams. Remember track deadline is April 15.

Mite C's enjoy busy vacation week

Last week may have been school vacation locally, but it certainly was no vacation for the parents of the Wilmington Mite C Youth Hockey players.

The C's had three league games and four tournament games, with two practices thrown in for good measure, during the so-called vacation week.

At week's end the Cats had posted an impressive 4-2-1 record, 2-1 in league play and 2-1-1 in tournament play. Wilmington participated in the annual tournament sponsored by the Tewksbury Youth Skating Association.

Thanks to TYSA for a well run tournament, it proved to be a wonderful experience for the youngsters.

Tewksbury 1 Wilmington 0

The Wildcat Mite C squad opened the annual Tewksbury Invitational tournament with a disappointing 1-0 loss to the host Redmen. Tewksbury wasted no time in establishing their presence as they scored only minutes into the game.

Wilmington, looking as though they were skating into strong head winds all day long, were never able to put one past the Redmen goalies, despite several scoring chances.

Most notable was a shot by Eric Raposo that clanged off the post on a break away with three minutes remaining in the game. Tewksbury held on and posted the victory.

Scott Sferazza, Jaclyn Rideout, Stephen Peterson and Matt David turned in gutsy performances for Wilmington.

Haverhill 3 Wilmington 2

On Tuesday the C's took a brief hiatus from tournament play to face Valley League divisional foe Haverhill. Wilmington, showing improvement from their game the day before, led 2-1 at the end of the first period.

Eric Raposo scored both goals for Wilmington with an assist credited to Marshall Nevins on the first goal. Haverhill answered in these second to knot it at two.

The third period saw Wilmington surrender yet another goal as the Cats were plagued with difficulties clearing the puck out of their own end which directly resulted in two of the Haverhill goals. Wilmington had many chances but unfortunately they ran out of time as Haverhill escaped with the victory.

Wilmington 5 Nashoba 0

On Tuesday afternoon it was back to tournament play as the Cats overpowered Nashoba. Wilmington stormed out to a 5-0 lead at the end of the first period and put it in cruise control for the remainder of the game. Jay Surianello opened the balanced Cat attack as he caromed a shot off the goalie's skate from deep in the corner.

Three minutes later, Jaclyn Rideout scored her first of the tournament with an assist given to Eric Raposo. The next two goals were scored by Eric "Relentless" Raposo. Mike Welch, picking up his first point of the season, and Stephen Peterson assisted on Raposo's second goal.

Scott Sferazza closed out the scoring for the Cats with a helper going to Jaclyn Rideout.

Wilmington 2 Wakefield 2

Wednesday saw the Cats facing off against old friend Wakefield in tournament play. Those who follow the C's know that Wakefield and Wilmington have played numerous times this year in divisional play and are evenly split at 1-1-1 against each other. Well, this game was no different. Each team knew that the winner of this game would win the tournament.

Wilmington drew first blood when a determined Jaclyn Rideout scored on a partial break. Marshall Nevins picked up an assist on the play. The second period saw the Cats open a 2-0 lead when Jay Surianello lit the lamp for the second time in the tournament. Wakefield quickly responded to come within one.

The third period, like the previous two, contained non-stop end to end action with both teams generating multiple scoring chances. This game was not for the faint of heart.

Wakefield tied the game with just over two minutes to play, thereby, dashing the Cats' hopes for a win. The Cats pulled goalie Matt David who played superbly, to try for the win, but came up empty and settled for the tie.

Wilmington 1 Medford 0

On Thursday Wilmington faced Medford for second place in the tournament. At the games conclusion, one tournament official remarked that this was the most exciting game in the tournament.

Eric Raposo scored the game's only goal with one second remaining in the second period. Both teams played extremely well in all aspects of the game.

Wilmington prevailed and closed out the tourney with a 2-1-1 record, one point shy of first place Wakefield, with two shutouts and eight goals for and three goals against. All affiliated with this team were extremely proud of its performance.

Wilmington 8 Peabody 2

Sunday marked the return to Valley League play as the Cats overwhelmed Peabody to close out "vacation week."

Eric Raposo led the attack with a three goal hat trick and two assists. Jaclyn Rideout continued her dominance over opponents as she scored two. Marshall Nevins, seemingly quite comfortable on defense, contributed with two goals as well.

Stephen Peterson notched his first goal of the year as he unleashed one of his laser beam wrist shots into the Peabody cage.

Jennifer Corcoran played extremely well for Wilmington in this contest.

There's one trip to Winchester Hospital that Bud Pacetti, Vin McNeil, Al Fay and Richard Lynch don't mind.

That's the one these retirees make each week for their weekly volunteering stint.

"You get to help people, and I enjoy being helpful," McNeil said. "I enjoy the exercise, too."

And, he said, he's gained a whole new network of friends. McNeil, 70 of Reading, and his wife began volunteering at Winchester Hospital after seeing a notice in their church bulletin that the hospital needed volunteers. That was two years ago, and they've been helping out ever since.

McNeil is one of about 40 men who donate their time at the hospital. He works as a messenger, transporting everything from patients to medication and reports around the hospital.

According to Marie Johnson, director of volunteers, Winchester Hospital has an average of 400 volunteers who help out at the hospital each month.

"The role of a volunteer is really to support the work the paid, or professional, staff do," said Johnson. By performing some non-professional duties, Johnson said, volunteers free up staff members to do what they've trained to do. "I like to say volunteers provide the heart and soul of the hospital. They make the patients feel better about being in the hospital."

There are two broad categories of volunteers, according to Johnson, those who work with patients and those who don't. Positions include everything from delivering flowers and transporting patients to providing clerical assistance for various departments.

"We try to match a person's skills and background with what they would like to do," Johnson said. "We have people of extraordinary skills and background who came to the hospital to volunteer. They certainly add to the program."

Volunteers are required to work a minimum of once every other week, although most volunteers donate time weekly. They normally work a three or four hour shift.

"We do invest a lot of time up front in the training process," Johnson said. "We see volunteering as a commitment."

Johnson said the motivation for volunteers differs. Some are looking for a social outlet, some for exercise. Others are looking to gain additional skills or decide if they really want to pursue a career in a hospital setting. But for most, helping others plays a significant role in their decision to volunteer.

It's probably the underlying motivation for the vast majority of people who come through the door. (They) want to give back," said Johnson. "We now acknowledge people need to get something else in return for that. Sometimes it's the aspect of sociability. This is a place to begin to develop associations and maybe even is a place to begin to develop associations and maybe even friendships. We have a lot of retirees who don't have a routine any more, so they come to volunteer."

"We also try to keep volunteers as well educated as we can, not just about Winchester Hospital but about health care in general," she added.

Lynch was looking for a way to get more exercise when he decided to volunteer. After quadruple heart by-pass surgery eight years ago, the Reading resident said he was able to get exercise at work. When he retired about two years ago, he worked in his yard and garden. But as the weather began to get cold, he knew he had to change his routine.

Advanced medical directive booklet now available

More Americans are beginning to plan for medical care at the end of life by filling out living wills and other advance medical directives. In fact, the recent use of living wills by Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis and Richard Nixon caused interest in living wills to skyrocket.

Choice in Dying, a national, not-for-profit organization best known for creating the first living will more than 25 years ago, reports a five-fold increase in public demand for the documents. Experts at Choice in Dying find that the planning process that accompanies signing living wills and other advance medical directives raises a host of questions. To answer these questions, Choice in Dying announced the availability of a new, 10-page, illustrated booklet, "You and Your Choices - Advance Medical Directives."

According to Executive Director Dr. Karen Orloff

Kaplan, "The new booklet explains what advance medical directives do, why they are needed even if you want your family to speak for you, and how the living will and the health care agent work in tandem, to ensure an individual's end-of-life wishes are honored."

"Advance medical directives" is the general term for a living will, and a durable power of attorney for health care (also called a health care agent). A living will is a legal form that allows an individual to spell out his or her wishes about medical treatments to accept or refuse at the end of life.

A durable power of attorney for health care is a legal form that allows the individual to appoint someone he or she trusts - such as a spouse, friend, or adult child - to make medical treatment decisions when the individual can no longer speak for him/herself.

The new booklet offers individuals guidance about how to more comfortably discuss life-sustaining therapies with their loved ones, caregivers and health care providers. It also describes common medical treatments, such as CPR, ventilators and other common types of life support, as well as comfort care, and offers steps to follow to ensure that medical treatment decision making at the end of life is protected.

The new booklet, "You and Your Choices - Advance Medical Directives" is available for $3.50 each for postage and handling, from: Choice in Dying, Dept. C, 200 Varick Street - 10th Fl, New York, New York 10014-4810; telephone (212) 366-5540; 1-800-989-WILL (9455).

Nazareth Academy's "Priorities"

THE CAST AND CREW of Our Lady of Nazareth Academy's "Priorities" is captured at a recent rehearsal. They will compete this weekend in Belmont (Don Young photo)

This year Our Lady of Nazareth Academy's Drama Club deals with some very emotional and serious women's issues in their production of "Priorities," an original work by Dr. Patricia Tamagini and the Nazareth Drama Club.

This play will be performed at the Massachusetts High School Guild Drama Festival this Saturday, March 4, at Belmont High School. The play deals with important issues concerning women today such as physical and emotional abuse, prostitution, teen pregnancy, and suicide.

These real life issues are acted out by Nazareth students on stage. Being an all female school, these issues may effect, or will effect, one or more of these students now or in the future.

Each monologue is performed by talented young women who bring each issue to life and make the viewers sit-up and think. Dr. Patricia Tamagini of Wakefield directs this play with assistance from Miss Lora Tamagini of Boston.

The actresses are: Seniors Cathy Bellavia of Saugus, Alyssa Blomberg of Reading, Melissa Phair of Melrose, Monica Faiella of Saugus, Juniors Jennifer Batterton of Malden, Mary Cronin of Stoneham, Michelle Guerroiro of Melrose, Sophmores Amy Walsh of Winchester, Shane Barry of Woburn, Jeanette Bateman of Medford, Vikki Withrow of Medford, Freshwomen Sandra Cronin of Stoneham, Shaleah McNeil of Malden, Brooke Courage of Peabody, Julieann Bonaventura of Woburn, Rachel Keniston of Billerica, Lynn Palardy of North Andover, Katie Crowley of Melrose, Elizabeth Kutny of Salem, New Hampshire, Sharane Connell of Lynnfield.

The Crew of Nazareth's Drama Club is also hard at work creating a beautiful set and wonderful wardrobe. The Crew girls are: Seniors Katie Duck of Malden, Emily Collins of Saugus, Lucy Matthews of Wakefield, Juniors Anita DiMarco of Malden, Jenn Lamb of North Andover, Candice Spencer of Everett, Sophomore Katie Cunningham of Georgetown, Megan Perkins of Amesbury, Kate Courtney of Melrose, Debby O'Sullivan of Medford, Kerry Butler of Melrose, Michelle

Taking marijuana seriously

Woburn, Burlington, Winchester, and Stoneham police participated recently in a North Eastern Massachusetts Law Enforcement Council raid in Wilmington.

According to various editions of the "Daily Times Chronicle," NEMLEC's Drug Task Force is "taking marijuana use seriously in this area," noting that the drug has been coming on stronger lately and is often laced with other substances.

According to Woburn officials, law enforcement personnel have noticed recently that marijuana these days has a much higher THC content which makes it much more potent.

Out in the cold

File this under hot news: apparently, there is still no walking in some malls on Sundays. And on Saturdays!

Many of the usual Sunday walkers who had braved 13-degree weather this past Sunday were surprised to find most of Burlington Mall's doors locked. Some mall workers expressed equal surprise. And some senior citizens - who wanted nothing but a safe place in which to walk - snuck themselves and others in.

Inside the warm mall at about 9:15 a.m., with music

Couture of Saugus, Melissa Carbone of Revere, Ariane Schena of Malden, Adrienne Ross of Wakefield, Katie Oskowski of Woburn, Katie Hyde of Lynn, and Christina Kouripines of Woburn.

The play will touch your heart and may broaden your mind. To see the play, just contact Our Lady of Nazareth Academy in Wakefield at 245-5210.

"With so many new faces involved with the Walk for Wellness Program, we felt it is necessary to remind all of the guidelines of the program: All participants should enter through the Food Court Entrance (between Legal SeaFoods and Waterstone's Booksellers). Walking is only permitted on the Lower Level, Monday through Friday from 8:00 a.m. to 10:00 a.m."

No one is like me. No one has my mind. My sense of humor. Or my courage. I think I knew this before I had breast cancer. After undergoing treatment, I became convinced of it. At the Winchester Hospital Breast Care Center the focus was completely on what I wanted. Decisions were made with me, not about me. My team of medical and surgical specialists were assembled for my case. Nobody else's. All were affiliated with Winchester Hospital and the New England Medical Center, so I knew I was getting the highest quality care. When you are in a swirl of charts and statistics, the last thing you need to feel like is a number. I never did.

ANTHONY MANCONI

For many years the words, "Made in the U.S. of America," on a product signified the, "Hallmark" of quality. However, some people's faith on the reliability of U.S. made cars, tools and electronic equipment disintegrated. I am indeed happy to report that the pendulum is back so that American made goods and products are again held in the high prestige they had for centuries.

I learned boatbuilding from the master craftsmen at the Boston Naval Shipyard. Most of the supervisors boatbuilders were from Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island, New Brunswick and Newfoundland. They would never tolerate anyone saying or doing work that was just, "good enough."

Every rib, knee, deck or plank had to fit perfectly or be replaced. The seaworthiness and the lives of men depended on the integrity of the men and

"yes" women who built the boats and ships. I am retired now but, I wince when I hear a carpenter, plumber and especially an automobile mechanic say, "That's good enough," when they know the work could have been done better.

I owe a debt of gratitude to, Thomas Murray, John MacCauley of Medford, John Harrington of Woburn, Bill Powers, of Burlington, William Chase of Melrose, Louis Brugleman of Reading, Leo O'Brien of Wakefield and many others who were my supervisors.

Their integrity was "Visible evidence in the quality of the boats and ships we built. When Jimmy Corbett joined the Navy in WW-II he was sent to the Great Lakes Training Station.

One day the instructor told Jimmy to jump off a platform fifteen feet high into the water. When he hesitated, the instructor said, "what would you do if you were this high on a ship that was sinking?" "Sir," Jimmy replied, "I'd wait until the ship sunk ten more feet."

My Aunt Nora was as nervous as a cat on her first cruise. She asked the captain, "Sir, do ships this size sink often?" "No ma'am he replied, "ships this size sink only once." When the ship docked in a Caribbean Bay, the captain said, "we have dropped anchor." "I'm not a bit surprised Aunt Nora exclaimed, "The darn thing has been hanging since we left Boston!

Folks, whenever someone said something that I would adamantly disagree with, I'd shout loud and clear, "That's a crock of 'BALONEY!'"

Well needless to say, I lost a lot of friends that way. Then one day my good friend Fr. Dennis Nason suggested that I substitute the word, "Amazing" for "Baloney."

I was getting along fine with that wonderful idea until I asked, Dan Hurley what he thought of my Woodchips Column? Dan smiled and said, "Chipper, your column is A-M-A-Z-I-N-G Folks, I wonder if Dan really means, "Baloney?"

Folks, when one door of happiness closes, another one opens. But, we look so long at the closed door we don't see the new door that is opened for us.

Helen Keller once said, "When I met and shook hands with Mark Twain. I could see the sparkle in his eyes and the smile on his face in his hand-shake."

Many of you know that it takes many years of study and passing a difficult examination before anyone is qualified to add CPA after his or her name. The letters stand for, Certified Public Accountant.

So when I saw a sign in the window of a dry cleaning store that said, Maurice Parsons CPA, I went in and asked Maurice, "What right have you to have those letters after your name?" Maurice smiled and replied, "Chipper for me, those letters stand for, "Cleaning, Pressing and Alterations."

Folks, "Caveat Emptor" is a Latin phrase meaning, "Let the buyer beware." So please don't fall for any fancy talk, Folks. Remember that the large print on a contract gives you something and the small eye straining words invariably take something away from you.

Sam Goldwyn, the Hollywood Movie Producer who mangled the English language said, "An Oral Contract isn't worth the paper it's written on."

Here's another tip from the Chipper, Please, if you are going to have some tree work done, look in the business ads in the "Middlesex East Papers" for a reliable tree expert.

A neighbor of mine had his cousin who volunteered to cut the limbs of an oak tree do the work. The poor chap was standing on a lower limb that snapped and he dropped to the ground, breaking both his legs.

P-L-E-A-S-E Folks, Have insured experts do any kind of work for you, especially "Tree Work".

My Uncle John Shea walked out of a gin mill almost into the arms of Fr. Tom who was walking by. Feeling a lecture on the evils of drinking, Uncle John thought he'd beat Fr. Tom to the punch asking, "Father, what's this 'Arthritis' I hear so much about?" "some say drinking and living the life of Riley causes it, how long have you had it?"

Oh! NOT ME, I heard the Bishop has a touch of it.

Towns from S-3

Presumably, although mallwalking is only permitted at designated times, shopwalking on Sundays - and even Saturdays - is still encouraged.

Not to worry, though: at least one other area mall - think north and shore - welcomes walkers on Sunday mornings at 9 a.m. - and Mondays through Saturdays at 7 a.m.

On un'charter'ed territory

In its report to Malden Mayor Edwin C. Lucey, the Malden Charter Commission has recommended several changes in the school and police departments. Also included in its recommendations are proposals to give the mayor broader appointing power and to create a community-development department.

Lucey appointed the commission in 1993 after a previous City Council attempt to establish a charter-review group. The mayor's commission was charged with looking at the structure of city government and recommending changes to enhance its efficiency.

School changes include the creation of a Parent Advisory Committee, comprising one member from each of the city's 10 schools. The PAC's charge would be to meet with and advise a revamped School Committee. Although teachers and principals were barred from the PAC in an earlier commission draft, the new recommendations would allow them to serve if they are the parents of Malden Public School students.

The final draft also proposes giving the two police unions each a seat on the seven-member Police Department Civilian Advisory Board.

Charter Commission recommendations need City Council and state legislature support before they go on the ballot for a citywide vote in November. An ad-hoc City Council subcommittee will hold public hearings in upcoming months.

The Fells is a 2060 acre, Woodland and watershed area managed by the Metro Parks Division of the Metropolitan District Commission. Colonialists used the area for timber, clay and quarry rock. Spot Pond Brook provided water power to early factories and mills.

After much lobbying by citizens impressed by the natural beauty of the area, the Fells became public park land in 1894. Today Boston-area residents can enjoy hiking and cross country skiing along well marked trails. Some loops offer as much as 6.8 miles of travel within typical Eastern forest land.

Local Rotary International District 7930 joins Rotary districts, worldwide, in recognizing April 7, as "World Health Day,"

Are computer skills needed?

It's not enough to know a mouse from a modem in order to be a marketable job candidate today. According to a recent national survey, 72 percent of managers said it's important for candidates to be proficient with a prospective employer's specific software as part of their computer skills.

The survey was developed by OfficeTeam, a national staffing service specializing in highly-skilled temporary office and administrative professionals. It was conducted by an independent research firm, which polled 150 human resources and other executives from the nation's 1,000 largest companies.

Respondents were asked: "When evaluating a job candidate's computer skills, how important is proficiency with the specific software used by your company?" Their responses: Very important 18%; Somewhat important 54%; Somewhat unimportant 21%; Very unimportant 5%; Don't know 2%.

"The results suggest that software proficiency is one of the keys to job success, so candidates seeking administrative and office positions should seize every opportunity to learn new programs," said Andrew Denka, executive director of OfficeTeam.

"Because technology advances so rapidly, employers want people who are not only well-versed in a particular software, but who are also familiar with the current versions of what the company uses. These days, if you're a version or two behind, that's too far back," said Denka.

In addition to mastering a few word processing packages, candidates can enhance their marketability by learning different types of applications, such as spreadsheets, database packages and scheduling programs, Denka advised.

School Notes

by Phyllis Nissen

School means work

Will it work?

The federal "School to Work Program" could provide $250,000 - of the $35 million allotted to Massachusetts - for a partnership among the following communities: Malden, Medford, Melrose, Stoneham, Winchester, and Arlington.

Local community representatives met recently at Medford High to hammer out the details of the collaborative school-to-work program which will compose the five-page pre-proposal due shortly. The proposal focus, according to the "Daily News Mercury," is expected to be the health-care industry rather than the telecommunications field as previously thought.

Medford Public Schools Director of Curriculum Roy Belson and Media Coordinator Richard Trotta hosted the meeting which was attended by representatives from Malden, Medford, Melrose, and Stoneham. Attending from Malden were Director of Guidance Deni Evangelista, Malden High Senior Class Assistant Principal Dr. Elliot Carlson, and school media coordinator Joseph Angelo.

The program's premise, according to the "Mercury," is that creating a link between what is learned in the classroom and what exists in the work force is necessary for future student success. The program goal is to prepare students for continuing education and training after high school by combining school- and work-based learning. The program would expose secondary school students in a job setting to jobs in the health care and telecommunications fields in their communities.

Each community in the partnership has a health care facility and the telecommunications aspect of the program would be part of health care at first, branching off on its own in the program's second or third year.

According to the U.S. Department of Education, school-to-work systems such as this "will offer young Americans opportunities to prepare for high-skill, high-wage careers, to receive a top-quality academic education, and to pursue further education or training."

The local pre-proposal is due by March 15th, with the committee expecting to complete the final proposal by early May.

Who will work?

Lynnfield Superintendent of Schools Dr. Richard Palermo intends to appoint a Huckleberry Hill School principal by April but will wait longer to appoint a middle school principal, according to the Lynnfield "Villager."

Acting Huckleberry Hill Principal Robert Simmons doesn't want to be considered for the permanent position but does want to get back into the classroom as a K-6 math and science curriculum specialist. This is his third term as an acting elementary school principal in Lynnfield, having covered Huckleberry in 1990-91 and the Summer Street School from 1991-92.

On the other hand, acting

Middle School Principal Douglas Russell would like to continue acting but Palermo doesn't feel he's been superintendent long enough to judge Russell's performance. Palermo's role as superintendent began on December 12th.

The Lynnfield School Committee has agreed that Palermo should give Russell "a very good look before conducting a time-consuming search."

Although Palermo is new to the community, Russell has served as middle school assistant principal for six years and has been a member of the Lynnfield Public Schools staff for 23 years, having begun as a teacher at Huckleberry Hill and served as director of administration and finance as well as electronic media specialist.

Who is celebrating?

The following area schools are celebrating Department of Education grants which will turn into computer equipment: Burlington ($27,326), Medford ($31,790), North Reading ($31,030), and Winchester ($30,195).

About 250 schools across the state applied for the $2.6 million grants and only 89 received them. The grants are matching grants for which towns and cities can count expenditures made for computers and other information technology equipment purchased since July 1991.

Priority, according to the North Reading "Transcript," was given to districts that have already begun to 1) develop local plans to link their purchase of technology equipment to school improvement plans written by school councils; 2) design systems to network equipment; and 3) provide training, staff support and maintenance for the use of the educational equipment purchased.

nance for the use of the educational equipment purchased.

If you'd like to read about your favorite school, student or teacher in "School Notes," please send school newsletters and other relevant information to Phyllis Nissen, "School Notes," Middlesex East Supplement, Box 240, Reading, MA 01867.

1995 business outlook is up for local restaurants

According to various spending indicators, the Massachusetts restaurant industry is showing signs of improvement, according to American Express Travel Related Services Company, Inc. (TRS).

"After several years of slow business, we saw an improvement for restaurant owners in Massachusetts in 1994," said Don Carlon, regional vice president, American Express (TRS). "And although there are still areas where business could be better, last year's new restaurant openings coupled with marketing promotions reward program expansions and special offers, gave restaurant-goers more dining options and induced restaurant spending, providing a much needed jolt to the industry."

According to the Massachusetts Restaurant Association (MRA), restaurants ended last year 6.7% ahead of 1993 (based on meal tax collection), representing the first real increase relative to inflation in six years. "We are pleased to see how business for Massachusetts restaurateurs has rebounded since the decline in the late 80's and early 90's," said Peter Christie, executive vice president of the MRA. "Given recent trends, we expect that growth to continue for 1995."

Diners Spent More on Dining Out in 1994

Overall, restaurateurs report seeing increased spending by diners throughout the past year, including the recent holiday season. A look at American Express Card member spending depicts a similar increase in spending patterns.

In American Express New England destination markets, 1994 charge volume has sustained strong consistent growth over 1993 with spending up 10.8% for Cape Cod, 11.3% for Martha's Vineyard and 11.2% for Nantucket Island.

Reserve campsites early

The Department of Environmental Management's (DEM) Division of Forests and Parks will again offer the Campsite Reservation Program at 10 state campgrounds across the state.

Now in its second year, the campsite reservation program enabled over 9,000 campsite reservations to be made last summer.

"We are delighted with the success of the Campsite Reservation Program," said DEM Commissioner Peter C. Webber.

"This program has allowed us to attract more tourists to the state and has made getting away for a special weekend much easier for everyone."

Campsite reservations can be made for as little as two (2) consecutive days.

Ms. Firme is the resident organist at First Church and Mrs. Bray is a Stoneham piano teacher. Tickets are $5 and may be purchased in the church office during the week or at the door on February 5th.

Pointers about joint accounts

The money in a joint account legally belongs to either of the joint owners. So either one can empty the account.

Upon the death of one owner, each spouse is assumed to own half of any joint asset. But the surviving co-holder spouse may find the account frozen pending processing of the decedent's estate. Check the laws in each state.

Co-holders who are not married should realize that the total amount in the joint account is considered to belong to the first person to die, and the total is counted in the valuation of that person's estate for estate tax purposes.

For more information, call the Community Health Institute, (617) 756-2220.

How would McNeil convince a friend to join the volunteer staff at the hospital? "I'd tell them about the chance to meet different people, do a little walking exercise, which most senior citizens need. And you're helping people," McNeil said. "It's very satisfying."

Fay agreed. "People do appreciate (volunteers)," Fay said. "Some of the patients thank you. Even the people working here, the nurses will call up for an errand or something, and they'll say 'what would we do without the volunteers.' They appreciate it also."

"It's a commitment. I think it's good to have a commitment," Pacetti said.

Winchester Hospital holds orientation sessions throughout the year for both adult and junior volunteers. For additional information on volunteering, call Johnson at 756-2625.

MOVIES

"The Brady Bunch", Short Takes

"The Brady Bunch Movie"
Starring Shelley Long, Gary Cole, Michael McKean.
Written by Laurie Elehany, Rick Copp, Bonnie Turner, Terry Turner. Directed by Betty Thomas. Produced by Sherwood Schwartz, Lloyd Schwartz, Betty Kirkpatrick. Rated PG-13.

The rule of thumb is that movies based on TV shows or "Saturday Night Live" skits don't transfer well to the big screen. Of course, there are exceptions. "Batman" is one, "Maverick" another. And now you can add "The Brady Bunch Movie" to the list.

People tuned into the television show in the 1970s because everything always worked out and the problems were never that bad to begin with. This movie is such a scream because it recognizes the general weirdness that was Brady. These folks lived on Happy Planet all the time. If you take all that euphoria and tunnel vision and transfer it into the manic, angry '90s, the concept becomes even funnier.

No, you didn't have to grow up with the series to enjoy this Brady venture, which is short on plot and long on polyester. The movie is funny enough to stand on its own, even if it relies more on jokes and atmosphere than any kind of a serious storyline. (Just like the series.) That it is clever without being self-conscious, and never loses sight of the joke, makes for one groovy flick.

Shelley Long and Gary Cole parody Mr. and Mrs. Brady right down to her sidelong glances and his endless platitudes. Jennifer Elise Cox looks so much like the sit-com's Marcia Brady she could be Maureen McCormick clone. Several of the original Bradys are on hand, including Florence Henderson, and everyone is vying with double-knit pant suits and flower power stickers for attention.

The Brady's neighbors were always referred to in the series, but never seen. Well, it turns out the Dittmeyers are hardly the nice folks you'd want to have living next door. Mr. Dittmeyer (Michael McKean) is a boorish real estate developer trying to buy up the neighborhood. His drunkard of a wife (Jean Smart) is always making passes at the Brady men, even those whose voices haven't quite changed. McKean, all surly nastiness, is especially effective when he turns his wrath toward the eerily cheerful Bradys, who never seem bothered by his insults.

What storyline these is revolves around Dittmeyer's attempts to force the Bradys to sell their home. The kids' problems are much more trivial: Marcia made two dates for the same night, middle child Jan is suffering from a lack of attention, and Peter's voice is changing.

Another plus in this fluffy little comedy is that everyone in the cast has had experience on television. Even director Betty Thomas has done most of her work as both an actress and a director for television. As the movie follows several plots from the series and uses the same techniques, it is greatly enhanced by a cast and crew that understands sit-com timing and playing up to a small screen. All that exaggerated pouting from Marcia and golly-gee naivete from Greg becomes especially funny when transferred to a larger format.

Short Takes

The Hunted is an amazing waste of time and indicative of Christopher Lambert's need for a better agent. In this chop socky fantasy, he plays a Western businessman chased across Japan after witnessing an assassination by Ninja warriors. The film lacks internal logic, the fight scenes feel too choreographed and Lambert is listless. Rated R. *

Just Cause is a fast-paced thriller that relies heavily on cliches and coincidence, but fall together by the end. Sean Connery is a Harvard Law prof who tries to save Blair Underwood, a Death Row inmate, from the electric chair. The most interesting character is played by Laurence Fishburne, a southern police officer who is both corrupt and well-meaning. The always overlooked Ed Harris turns in another intense and intriguing performance. Rated R. ***

CAROL AND MIKE BRADY (Shelley Long and Gary Cole) happily reside in the Los Angeles suburbs, 1995, with six children and a live-in maid in "The Brady Bunch Movie." The comedy was executive produced by Alan Ladd, Jr.

Nobody's Fool is a good movie made better by Paul Newman's charismatic performance. Newman is a 60 year old construction worker with a lousy job, a dysfunctional divorced family, and a bum knee. But he also has a strong sense of self and knows how to apply humor to his dead-end life. The movie is a string of vignettes that needed a little more cohesion, but Newman, along with Jessica Tandy, Melanie Griffith, and Bruce Willis help make this a working class treat. Rated R. 1/2

Little Women is the definitive version of the Louisa May Alcott novel and we should all thank director Gillian Armstrong for this slice of holiday magic. Aesthetically pleasing, tightly edited, and superbly cast, it captures the feminist spirit Alcott so deftly wove into her pre-feminist era novel. Top-notch performances by Winona Ryder, Susan Sarandon, Trini Alvarado, and Kirsten Dunst are only enhanced by authentic-looking set dressings, locations and costumes. Extra praise to Armstrong for making the men (usually ignored) as appealing as the women. Rated PG. ****
